CLEMATIS PRUNING GROUP 3 - 2010

Clematis Group 3 consists of all clematis which produce flowers from mid-summer onwards. These clematis grow their stems and flowers during the same season after pruning. If not pruned, the plant will quickly become a mass of old diseased woody stems producing very few flowers.

LATE FLOWERING

A diverse group, all flowering later in the year on the current seasons stems. They need to be pruned to about 1ft from the ground in late February every year.

LATE LARGE FLOWERED HYBRIDS
All single flowers, from 3"-5" across. More reliable and easier to grow than group 2 hybrids.

HERBACEOUS CLEMATIS

This group of clematis do not climb, but will scramble through other plants.

They all flower from mid summer to autumn.

As with other herbaceous perennials, they die down to the ground in winter.

More stems emerge each year as the clump develops.
